FANCY PRICE FOR A CAR OF FRUIT

John Derrig, manager of the Pioneer Fruit company, in Utah, received a report of a car of cherries sold by the California Fruit Distributors in Chicago, Monday, which brought $550. This breaks the record by $300 per car of cherries. Fancy stock sold as high as $3.50 per box, others, choice, etc., of course dropped down as low as $1.15, $1.40, $1.60 and $1.75. The varieties that brought the highest prices were Black Tartarians, Chapmans, Black Hearts, and Purple Galigne. This will show the growers of Utah what they can do with their cherries if they take proper care of their orchards, fertilize, grade, and pack, as the trade would want them, for it has been demonstrated, and the manager of the Pioneer Fruit company in California has admitted, that the samples of Bing cherries sent him last

NO ELECTRIC CARS UNTIL JUNE 1

Time Postponed For the Inauguration of Trolley System Over the Bamberger Road—Motormen Are to be Drilled in the New Service.

President Simon Bamberger of the Salt Lake & Ogden railroad was in Ogden yesterday afternoon attending to business matters connected with his company. He states that his road will be electrified by the 15th of this month, but that electric trains will not be operated until about the first of June.

Everything, he says, is ready for the change, but the company desires that the men who will have in charge the handling of the motor cars, and the passenger coaches, shall become thoroughly acquainted with the road-bed and the manipulation of the new system before passengers are carried over the line. To this end, the electric cars will be operated from May 15 to June 1, but no one except the employees engaged in handling the cars will be permitted to ride.

Mr. Bamberger states that it is the intention of the company to start with the electric system in the best of condition as possible, so as to give the best service, and in order to do this the men must be well trained in their work. The company has employed an expert electric car man to drill the employees for two weeks, and it is expected that the men will be well prepared at the end of that time to give the service required by an up-to-date electric system.

In the meantime, the passenger and freight traffic will be handled by steam power.

SWITCHMAN RUN OVER BY ENGINE

George Hines Loses Both Legs and an Arm and Is Internally Injured—Special Train Sent For Doctors at Elko.

George Hines, employed as a switchman by the Southern Pacific company at Carlin, was run over by a switch engine this morning and frightfully mangled. The accident occurred at 7:30 a. m. Hines had placed a plank on the tender of the engine, which was backing up from the east end of the yard to take home for kindling. While the engine was underway the plank suddenly turned and threw the unfortunate man directly under the tender and the engine passed over him before the machine could be stopped.

His left leg was cut off, his right leg crushed to pulp and his right arm severed from the body, while internal injuries of a serious nature were also sustained.

The injured man was carried to his home and the company sent a special train to Elko, twenty-one miles distant, for doctors to aid the railroad surgeon in caring for the injured switchman. He was accorded such treatment as was possible.

Mr. Hines was a married man and resided with his family at Carlin. He was an employee of the company for many years and was a visitor to Ogden a few weeks since, when he was the guest of Depot Master Shields, for whom he formerly worked while the latter was yardmaster at Carlin.

Died This Afternoon.

Carlin, Nev., May 11.—George Hines, the Southern Pacific switchman who was run down by an engine, died this afternoon while undergoing an operation. He became unconscious about 11 o'clock and failed to respond to stimulants administered by surgeons in attendance.

Small Suite.—In the civil division of the municipal court this morning, J. M. Russell commenced suit against Thomas Doney for $25.35, and Jens Jensen for $27.50, and sued for merchandise. Dr. S. G. Egan is suing Joseph Critchlow to recover $43.25, alleged to be due for professional services.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST OF CLUB

General Superintendent of Union Pacific, Successor of Park, is to be Entertained This Evening—Affable Official Who Has But Little to Say.

General Superintendent Charles Ware of the Union Pacific system returned from Salt Lake last night and will remain in Ogden until tomorrow morning. He was accompanied by J. B. Sheldon, superintendent of the Union Pacific telegraph system, L. H. Karty, formerly superintendent of telegraph, but now retired; W. B. Lincoln, superintendent of transportation and C. J. Logan, first assistant general freight agent of the Union Pacific.

While the latter two officials continued on to Omaha last evening, Superintendent Ware and Messrs. Sheldon and Karty remained over, and with Division Superintendent W. M. Jeffers, will be guests of honor at an informal reception and dinner at the Weber club at 6 o'clock this evening.

FORFEITS A CASH BAIL BOND

An echo of the case of the State of Utah against Charles Dyer, who was recently tried and acquitted on the charge of grand larceny in the district court, was heard this morning before Judge Howell when the $200 cash bail bond of H. C. Van Horne, the defendant, who was arrested with Dyer on the same charge, was declared forfeited.

Both Dyer and Van Horne were arrested September 27th, upon the charge of stealing $15 from a Japanese named O. Yasahira, on the Tabernacle square. After their arrest the case against them was continued from time to time at the request of the defendant's counsel. Finally when the case against Dyer was called for trial about three weeks ago the district attorney announced that the complainant witness, the Japanese, could not be found in the state. His testimony, however, was introduced. The jury returned a verdict acquitting Dyer. Two days following his acquittal the Japanese witness arrived in the city from Park City.

Immediately after his arrest, Van Horne put up a $300 cash bail bond, which was subsequently reduced to $200 on motion of Van Horne's attorney, with the district attorney consenting. Van Horne's case was set for hearing today, and when it was called the defendant failed to appear

The new general superintendent of the Union Pacific is a clean-cut, active, vigorous railroad man in the very prime of life, and ascended the official ladder from the modest position of a telegraph operator. He is easy to approach, genial and pleasant, and while not giving out anything especially important for publication at this time, he is courteous and personified in both subordinates and the general public.

Mr. Ware has been busy a greater part of the day in sizing up railroad conditions in the city and in going over Union Pacific interests, with superintendent Jeffers and other officials. He will leave for Omaha tomorrow morning and will be accompanied by the Utah division by Superintendent Jeffers, Engineer Mainland and several other operating officials.

and his bond was declared forfeited. Joe French, the young Frenchman, who, with R. C. Brightwell, is charged with burglary in the third degree, was brought into court for the purpose of changing his plea from that of guilty to not guilty. When called before the bar the defendant announced that he would not change his plea, but would plead guilty. The court announced that sentence would be passed Friday morning.

Frank Baker, charged with burglary in the second degree, was arraigned and the date of taking his plea was set for tomorrow morning. Baker entered the home of Bernard Hestra on Spencer avenue and while in the act of robbing the house was caught by Hestra, given a beating and then marched to the police station. The crime was committed April 24.

SUGAR FACTORY SITE WILL SOON BE SETTLED

Monroe, May 10.—The sugar factory situation will soon be settled now in Sevier county. George Austin, field superintendent, and R. W. Young, attorney for the Utah Idaho Sugar company, arrived in Richfield Tuesday night, to be followed the next day by Thomas R. Cutler and other officials to look over the Richfield and Elsinore-Monroe sites for the location of the factory. The rivalry between the two places is very keen.

DECISION IN FAVOR JAPANESE BANK

In the case of W. D. Brown, receiver of the Japanese-American bank, against Alma D. Chambers, treasurer of Weber county to restrain the treasurer from collecting 1909 taxes amounting to $606, a decision has been rendered by Judge Howell in the district court in favor of the plaintiff and the assessment declared void. It appears that the bank was assessed as a national bank and not as a foreign corporation.

LESSON IN SOBRIETY TAUGHT

"This is all a mystery to me, your honor. The entire transaction is a blank in my mind. I have no use for a clock, I had money in my pocket, and why I should steal that box containing a clock, I cannot understand. I do not think, though, that these witnesses would lie about me and, if they say I stole that clock, it must be true; but honestly, I do not remember a thing about it. I was drinking that day, and it now looks as though I was pretty drunk. I am in your hands, your honor, and I simply ask for leniency," were the words of Peter Curry before Judge Murphy, testifying in his own behalf, under the charge of petit larceny.

The complaint against Curry alleged that on May 9th he entered the freight depot of the Southern Pacific railroad and carried away a box containing a clock, valued at $5. The witnesses for the prosecution stated that the man had been drinking heavily and that he entered the depot and stole the box containing the clock. A friend of Curry took the box away from him and carried it back to the depot, telling the man in charge of the freight that Curry was drunk and did not know what he was doing.

The witnesses all stated that Curry did not attempt to dispose of the box of freight and that he made no claim to it. He simply carried it away.

The court rendered a verdict of guilty and sentenced the man to pay a fine of $15, or serve fifteen days in the city jail. In passing sentence the court observed that it was strange that a man would steal when he was drunk if he was not a thief in his sober moments, and that he thought that to impose a penalty would teach Curry a lesson to keep away from whisky, if that is what caused him to commit the crime of larceny. The fine was paid.

ESTATE WAS NOT LEGALLY PROBATED

Alleging that the will of William H. Stevens, who died in 1906, had not been executed according to the formalities of the probate laws of the state, a petition for an order denying the purported last will and testament and ask for the appointment of Ellen J. Stevens, widow of the deceased, as administratrix of the estate. The petition is signed by all the heirs of the property. The value of the estate is $20,000.

JUNIOR CLASS TO GIVE VAUDEVILLE

The junior class of the Ogden high school will give a high-class vaudeville entertainment next Friday evening in the high school assembly hall. The program will commence at 8 o'clock. As this is the last entertainment to be given in the high school this year, every effort possible is being made to make it a great success. For more than a month past the juniors have been working diligently for a most successful production and they pride themselves in saying that it will be the best entertainment given at the school this year. An admission charge of 25 cents will be made, the proceeds to be used in defraying the expense of the junior ball next month.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE AND SOME MONEY

Alleging that although her husband has $4,000 on deposit in an Ogden bank and is an able bodied man, capable of earning $200 per month, Maude N. Gordie has brought suit for a divorce in the district court against Russell J. Gordon upon the grounds of non-support. The complainant also files an affidavit that she has no money to bear the cost of the filing of the papers and asks that they be filed without the payment of the usual filing fee. Mrs. Gordon alleges that they were married at Fairmount, North Dakota, April 22, 1897, and resided together until March, 1910, when the defendant, without any cause whatever, willfully deserted her and has since failed to return or furnish her with any support. She further alleges that her husband is addicted to the use of liquor and recklessly and carelessly squanders money and she asks the court to issue a restraining order on the bank where the money is deposited to prevent him from disposing of the money until the final hearing in this action. She asks for the custody of two children and an equal division of the property.

A WELCOME FOR CHIEF FORESTER

The Weber club has in view the entertainment of Chief Forester Henry Graves, during his sojourn in the city about May 20th. The big forester has been asked to be the guest of the club while in the city, and he has been consulted as to what his pleasure will be upon that occasion. It is anticipated that Mr. Graves will be asked to address the people at the Tabernacle while here. A definite program will be arranged as soon as Mr. Graves is heard from. He is now at Portland, Oregon.

The people of Ogden were well acquainted with Forester Pinchot, Mr. Graves' predecessor, and it is the purpose of the Weber club to see that they become well acquainted with the present forest chief, upon his first visit here.

SHEEP SHOW AND FAIR AT OGDEN

The Sheep Show and fair at Ogden are attracting the attention of people at a distance and many favorable comments are being made, one of the most encouraging of which is the following from The Fair Journal, published in Chicago:

The Inter-Mountain Four-State Fair association, which held its first annual fair at Ogden, Utah, in 1909, has just elected new officers for 1910, consisting of Dr. H. M. Rowe, president and manager; M. S. Browning, vice-president; John Plingree, secretary, and A. P. Bigelow, treasurer. All these men are prominent business men in the city, and all are directors of one or more banks and may be said to represent the wealth of the inter-mountain country. The fair given last year was a big success, even though the fair was held in a rainy week.

This year the fair will be given from September 22 to September 29, both days inclusive. In connection with the Four-State fair will be an international sheep show and pure-bred sheep auction.

Ogden City is the center of the largest sheep growing community in the world, and the Four-State fair intends to have all the breeders of pure bred sheep bring their best stock to the International Sheep show, and those who feel disposed can have their stock sold at auction.

On January 7, this year, the International Wool Growers association held its annual convention in Ogden, at which time the greatest sheep show ever pulled off in the United States was held. Sheep were present from Canada, England, France, Germany, and from different parts of the United States. Before the International Wool Growers adjourned they approved of the action of giving an annual international sheep show in Ogden during the last week in September and to enable the wool growers from the inter-mountain country to pick their pure-bred stock before the breeding season begins.

The Four-State fair also gives a big trotting meet during the fair. Purse money is offered in all ways from $500 to $1,000. Running races will also be given each day after the close of the trotting races. It is conceded by all horsemen who have ever visited the Four-State race track at Ogden that it is the fastest half-mile race track west of the Mississippi-river.

Interest in Poultry. The poultry department of the Four-State fair will also be a special feature. Exhibits are expected from all over the country. The live stock and poultry exhibits are open to the world.

Dr. H. M. Rowe, president of the Four-State fair, was formerly one of the right hand bowlers of Secretary Wilson, the doctor being highly connected with the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture. He is one of the best judges of live stock and horses in the nation, and is especially adapted to have charge of a big fair.

WAR IS NOT NECESSARY

Three Conflicts Which This Country Could Have Avoided

Hartford, Conn., May 11.—John W. Foster, former secretary of state, in an address here before the New England Arbitration congress, raised the question whether it was reasonable to expect peace among nations and stated that the prevailing answer to the question was "no" in the negative.

After combating this position at some length, Mr. Foster took up the three foreign wars in which our country has been engaged, discussing them in detail.

The war of 1812 with Great Britain he contended, although justified under international law, was entered upon against the better judgment of the country.

President Madison and a large minority in congress strenuously opposed it and it was only entered upon under the lead of the party known as the "Warhawks," at the head of whom were Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun and other young public men, with the boast that we would dictate a peace at Quebec. Five days after congress declared war and long before the news reached England, the orders in council, which were the main cause of the war, were repealed. Peace was made without settling a single question about which the contest was begun. Never was a war more fruitless in its conclusions. It was neither inevitable nor necessary.

In the judgment of history, the war with Mexico was provoked on our part and was largely inspired by the spirit of slavery extension.

The war with Spain seems characteristic of that of 1812, in which the president was strongly opposed to a resort to arms and struggled for peace to the last and it was congress and an excited press which unconsciously forced hostilities. The Spanish government would in the end have yielded to the head of our government, if time had been allowed for negotiations.

Mr. Foster then made a review of the relations of the United States with Great Britain and Canada to show how the many irritating questions during the last hundred years had been settled peacefully.

The naval disarmament agreement for the Great Lakes, which has been in force for nearly a century, was cited to show how an enlarged disarmament might be put into practice.

THREE THOUSAND ENGINEERS MEET

Detroit, May 11.—More than three thousand delegates are registered for the opening here tonight of the biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers which will remain in session here until June 1st.

Affiliated with the Brotherhood is the grand international auxiliary, composed of wives of engineers. This organization has more than 6,000 delegates.

Warren S. Stone, grand chief engineer, of Cleveland, Ohio, and other grand officers are here.

Chicago, May 11.—With her face, throat, arms and body lacerated by the bites of two bulldogs, Mrs. Mary Ryan, 72 years of age, was reported dying in Grace hospital today. When neighbors reached her one of the dogs was tearing at the aged woman's throat, while the fangs of the other were buried in her arm.
